DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,508,587 to Williams.

Regarding to claim 1, Williams discloses in Figures 1 and 2, “an incandescent lamp 10 includes a base 11, a connector 12, a first stiff lead-in wire 13, a second stiff lead-in wire 14, a spacer 15, a non-opaque tubular envelope 16 and an inert gas 17. The base 11 is formed out of a non-conductive material such as a ceramic material. The first and second stiff lead-in wires 13 and 14, respectively, extend from the base 11. The connector 12 is mechanically coupled to the base 11. The spacer 15 keeps the first and second stiff lead-in wires 13 and 14 apart from each so that they do not short out the incandescent lamp 10. The non-opaque tubular envelope 16 having an open end and a closed end is mechanically coupled to the base 11 at the open end. The inert gas 17 fills the non-opaque tubular envelope 16. The inert gas may be one of the following gases, one of the halogens, argon, nitrogen, krypton and radon. The base 11 press-seals the non-opaque tubular envelope 16. The non-opaque tubular envelope 16 may be formed out of quartz. The incandescent lamp 10 also includes a filament 20 which is formed out of a conductive wire in the shape of an inverted truncated cone and has a first end and a second end. The conductive wire may be formed out of tungsten. The first and second lead-in wires 13 and 14 electrically couple the connector 12 to the first and second ends, respectively, of the filament 20" (column 3, lines 11-35).

Williams also discloses in Figures 1 to 4, "the incandescent lamp 10 further includes a focusing lens 30 The focusing lens 30 is integrally incorporated into the closed end of the non-opaque tubular envelope 16. In an alternate embodiment an external focusing lens may also be disposed in front of the closed end of the non-opaque tubular envelope 16" (column 3, line 44-50).
